2. Conditions

1. Only the member can request and obtain a secured access.
2. Identity should be established by means of signature verification by La Mutuelle. Instead, the undersigned provides proof of identity by means of access codes such as the user ID, the password and the grid. Any person who identifies himself correctly shall have access to secured information. Any action performed once the system has authorized secured access is imputed to the member.
3. The codes must be kept secret and should not be disclosed or passed to others. As there are several codes, they must be stored separately.
4. If there are reasons for suspecting that another person had knowledge of the codes, the member must immediately change or cancel the access codes. The loss of a code must also be notified immediately. All risks associated with the use of codes before the notification to La Mutuelle shall be borne by the member.
5. La mutuelle excludes all liability in respect of loss of damage suffered due to transmission errors, disturbances or interruptions in service (including maintenance work), technical faults or defects.
6. Information from the website gives no warranty whatsoever as to the accuracy or completeness of information on communication. In particular, any information regarding accounts (balance, statements, loans) shall not be binding unless explicitly stipulated as such.
7. Either the member or La Mutuelle may terminate the secured access at any time. La Mutuelle is entitled to terminate the secured access if the member has not logged in for a period of more than 12 months, or if the member's interests and security can no longer be insured (malice, repeated losses of codes).
8. Members are obliged to take any security measures required to minimize the security risks associated with internet use (updated anti-virus or firewall). If the member decides to export data, it will be his responsibility and any security measures shall be taken to secure them.
9. Any request to reissue new codes is billed.

I, the undersigned, hereby request a website secured access. I confirm having read the conditions above and accept them.
